

30 day Trial Perform Membership 접속방법

Hello,

We hope you, your family, and colleagues are well. We want to take this time to thank you for the opportunities we've had to work with you and your organization. We truly appreciate your past business and look forward to a long future together.

As we are all aware, in recent weeks business as we knew it has changed dramatically. At this point all but a small handful of our in-person classes are being taught virtually with most of our learners attending from home. This is working very well, and we will continue to operate under this new model as long as travel restrictions are in place.

We are still scheduling private classes. Please don't hesitate to reach out if you would like to explore live-virtual classes for your team, or discuss training for later in the year when the travel restrictions are lifted. We are happy to help and look forward to hearing from you.

We recognize that changing work conditions presents an opportunity for our community to increase their skills and abilities with Siemens solutions. To support this we are offering free trials to our online learning offerings effective immediately and for the period of the COVID-19 impact. This will help advance proficiency on Siemens products you already use or explore and learn new Siemens solutions.

Stay safe!

If you wish to advance your skills on products you already use you may request your free 30 day trial of the Learning Advantage Individual Membership, providing access to a rich set of video-based learning and lab instructions.

 Go to our online store and complete the registration process to activate your 30 day free trial.

If you are a Mentor EDA user or you wish to learn new Siemens products, you may request your free 30 day subscription to our On-Demand online Learning, providing access to a rich set video-based learning with virtual labs, knowledge checks and assessments.
